JIMBARAN BAY COOKING ACADEMY

Cooking Academy allows your guests to learn about the secret techniques and distinctive ingredients of Indonesian cuisine from Chef Anak Agung Kristya Yudha (Chef Kris), a Balinese native. Our lessons (lasting up to half of a day) teach students how to prepare a full five-course meal according to traditional menus representing one of the following regions of Indonesia: Bali, Java, Nusa Tenggara, Sulawesi or Sumatra. In addition to cooking, students have the option of visiting the Jimbaran Fish Market to see how locals shop for the freshest seafood. (A continental breakfast is served after the market tour.) The class culminates with the elaborate lunch that the students make themselves.

Cocktail Classes on the Beach

Bring your group for a fun cocktail class at the lively Sundara beach bar. Staff are trained by international mixologist, Javier De Las Muelas, who created the cocktail menu. Learn to mix the many innovative drinks, including the Chili Maryrita – a spicy version of a Margarita garnished with Togarashi (Japanese dried chili). Participants can request the beverages they want to learn, including items that are on and off our menu. By the end, they will never look at a cocktail menu the same way again.

Beachfront BBQ or Elegant Garden Party

MUSIC AND ENTERTAINMENT

Our conference services manager will be happy to arrange any type of music or entertainment for meetings. Entertainment for smaller social gatherings can be arranged through our catering coordinator. Some examples include:

Keroncong Band: From the island of Java, this traditional string orchestra and vocalist perform classical Indonesian ballads that provide a soothing background for lunch or dinner.

Joged Bumbung: This flirtatious ritual begins with a welcome dance. Later a man or woman from the audience is invited to join in.

Kecak Dance: A dramatic dance of as many as 100 men that represents the search for balance between positive and negative.

Panyembrama: This welcoming dance is performed by four young girls. At the end of the dance, each girl carries a basket of flowers and sprinkles them throughout the audience. This dance is regularly performed at temple festivals to welcome visiting deities.

Trio Rindik: A three-piece group with two bamboo xylophones and one flautist.

Trio Gender: A three-piece group on metal xylophones.

Batak Band: This is a three- or four-piece band that features lively guitar music.

Bataks are known for being outgoing and talented, and this band is best compared to the Mexican mariachis.

Gamelan: The word "gamelan" is strictly Javanese. A basic principle of gamelan music is that instruments with a higher range of notes are struck more frequently than those with lower ranges. Most musicians play a variety of instruments of the gangsa meatallophone family, which consist of bronze bars suspended over bamboo resonators.
