ABOUT THIS REPORT

Four Seasons Holdings Inc. has prepared this Statement on behalf of itself and the applicable entities owned by Four Seasons Holdings Inc. that have a reporting obligation under Canada’s Fighting Against Forced Labour and Child Labour in Supply Chains Act (The Act). Four Seasons Holdings Inc. has also prepared this Statement to voluntarily meet the requirements of the United Kingdom’s Modern Slavery Act 2015 (UK MSA) and the Australian Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Australian MSA). This report covers the period of January 1, 2023, to December 31, 2023.

For purposes of this Statement, the applicable companies owned by Four Seasons Holdings Inc. and conducting business within Canada, the United Kingdom (UK) and/or Australia, are collectively referred to as “Four Seasons,” “we,” or “our.”
OUR STRUCTURE & BUSINESS ACTIVITIES

Four Seasons is a privately held global luxury hospitality brand headquartered in Toronto, Canada that manages hotels, resorts and residences on behalf of third-party owners ("Managed Properties"). We also manage restaurants and bars within the Managed Properties and offer unique luxury experiences across land, sea and sky. Through a licensing agreement, Four Seasons branded bedding, pillows, mattresses, robes and other home décor and lifestyle items are available to purchase in Canada and the United States of America from a third-party through an e-commerce site.

As of year-end 2023, Four Seasons managed 128 hotels and resorts and 53 residential properties in 47 countries, including managing over 600 restaurant and bar outlets within our Managed Properties. Four Seasons also offers Private Retreats, the Private Jet Experience and the Four Seasons Drive Experience. Over 53,000 people were employed at our Managed Properties and offices in 2023. For a full list of our Managed Properties and offerings, please visit our website. Our corporate offices are located in Toronto, Miami, Dubai, London and Singapore, and we also have several Worldwide Sales Offices used by market-specific sales employees.

Four Seasons is committed to building upon our strong history of supporting communities and the environment. Through our Four Seasons for Good program we seek to preserve and regenerate the beautiful places in which we operate, and leave a positive, enduring impact on our communities.

Four Seasons for Good is centered around two pillars: Planet (environmental impact) and People (social impact). Each pillar is supported by specific activities and objectives. Fostering respect for human rights is one of our areas of focus within our People pillar.

OUR SUPPLY CHAINS

There is an extensive and predominantly decentralized global supply chain to support our Managed Properties, offices, and other business activities.

CENTRALIZED SOURCING
Goods and services are sourced¹ and procured² both centrally through Four Seasons and locally by the owners of the Managed Properties. We centrally manage the sourcing and some procurement functions (e.g., tendering and contract negotiations) of many of the Four Seasons branded items in guest rooms (e.g., bedding, terry, textiles, room supplies) and tabletop (e.g., chinaware, glassware, flatware, holloware, table linens) categories through the efforts of our Corporate Sourcing and Procurement team. Centrally sourced and procured items are produced by third-party manufacturers, and most of these items are exported from 23 countries across the world to the Managed Properties. Canada, China, Columbia, Egypt, France, Germany, India, Indonesia, Italy, Egypt, France and Portugal are the countries of origin for most of these products. Other notable source countries include: Australia, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Morocco, Myanmar, South Africa, South Korea, Thailand, Turkey, the United Arab Emirates, the United Kingdom, and the United States of America.

DECENTRALIZED SOURCING
The majority of goods and services required for the Managed Properties are not sourced and procured by Four Seasons, but rather directly by Purchasing teams at the Managed Properties. These items include non-Four Seasons branded hotel amenities, food and beverage, office and general supplies, IT and mechanical equipment, furniture, and labour services. Similar goods and services are required to operate our corporate and Worldwide Sales offices and are sourced and procured by our corporate employees. For clarity, this report only covers and describes the activities of Four Seasons Corporate Sourcing and Procurement and other sourcing and procurement carried out by our corporate employees, not local sourcing and procurement activities carried out at the Managed Properties, unless otherwise stated.

RESPONSIBLE SOURCING
For both central and local sourcing and procurement, Four Seasons is committed to supporting responsible and sustainable suppliers and complying with applicable laws. Local third-party partner entities are expected to comply with Four Seasons' policies with respect to ethics and human rights.

¹ Identifying the required products and services.
² Securing the agreements for the purchase of products and services.
We are committed to responsible workplace practices at every Managed Property and office we operate, and across our supply chain. Respecting and protecting human rights is fundamental to our approach. Four Seasons is committed to conducting business in a manner that complies with applicable laws and is consistent with the highest ethical standards. We are also committed to understanding the human rights related risks from and to our operations, and implementing measures to ensure that those who provide services to and for us – including team members, contractors and agents – are aware of and share our commitment to an ethical culture.

POLICIES

We condemn all forms of forced, bonded or compulsory labour, prohibited child labour and exploitation, and human trafficking. As codified in our Human Rights Policy, Supplier Code of Conduct, and internal Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, we are committed to actively avoiding complicity, and preventing and reducing the risk of these practices in our supply chains.

HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY

Our policy outlines our approach to human rights, which is informed by the principles contained in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the International Labour Organisation (ILO) Standards, the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, the UN Global Compact, The Code of Conduct for the Protection of Children from Sexual Exploitation in Travel and Tourism (The Code), and the Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).
Our Human Rights Policy outlines our commitment to addressing forced labour, human trafficking, and child labour and the rights of children as follows:

Forced Labour — We are committed to ensuring that forced labour in all its forms is prevented from occurring as a result of our business activities. This includes modern slavery, practices similar to slavery, bonded labour and debt bondage, trafficking in persons, prison labour, compulsory labour, military work, unlawful recruitment of children, and domestic servitude. We are also committed to ensuring protection for those categories of workers who are most vulnerable to exploitation.

We fully endorse the Sustainable Hospitality Alliance’s Principles on Forced Labour, namely that:

- Every worker should have freedom of movement.
- No worker should pay for a job; and
- No worker should be indebted or coerced to work.

Human Trafficking — We are committed to ensuring that human trafficking in all its forms is prevented from occurring across our operations, in line with the UN Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children. To mitigate instances of human trafficking, and as part of our commitment to employee and guest safety, we have pledged support to the American Hotel and Lodging Association (AHILA) 5-Star Promise, a voluntary commitment by AHILA members to enhance policies, trainings, and resources to strengthen safety and security for Four Seasons colleagues, residents and guests.

Child Labour And The Rights Of Children — We are committed to ensuring that exploitation of children in any form does not take place in our business operations. We are a signatory of The Code of Conduct for the Protection of Children from Sexual Exploitation in Travel and Tourism and are committed to complying with all applicable laws for the protection of children’s rights, not recruiting child labour, and supporting the elimination of all forms of exploitative child labour, as defined by the ILO. This includes, for greater certainty, ensuring that any work that may be performed by persons under the age of 18 is compliant with all applicable local laws and employment standards, is not provided or offered under circumstances that are mentally, physically, socially, or morally dangerous to the underage worker, and do not interfere with the underage worker’s schooling by depriving them of the opportunity to attend school, obliging them to leave school prematurely, or requiring them to attempt to combine school attendance with excessively long and heavy work.
SUPPLIER CODE OF CONDUCT

We support and protect human rights. We have a zero-tolerance approach to human rights abuses. As described in our Supplier Code of Conduct, suppliers are expected to align their practices with those outlined in our Human Rights Policy. Suppliers are expected to:

• Support the elimination of forced labour and human trafficking by complying with the Sustainable Hospitality Alliance’s Principles of Forced Labour.
• Ensure that no worker pays for a job. Fees and costs associated with recruitment and obtaining employment must not be paid by workers.
• The recruitment and hiring of workers, including workers provided by temporary help agencies, must comply with all applicable laws. No worker should be indebted or coerced to work.
• Condemn all forms of exploitation of children and not use child labour directly or indirectly in their supply chain, in accordance with the ILO standards.
• Provide appropriate training to their employees to ensure compliance with the Human Rights Policy, the Sustainable Hospitality Alliance’s Principles of Forced Labour, applicable ILO standards, and any other applicable laws and policies.
• Have a system in place to assess, on an ongoing basis, their own effectiveness in ensuring that forced labour and child labour are not being used in the Supplier’s own business and supply chain.
• Collaborate with any human rights-related audits, investigations, or information requests by Four Seasons or by any law enforcement authority with applicable jurisdiction.

CODE OF BUSINESS CONDUCT AND ETHICS

We have a strong commitment to conduct our business in a lawful and ethical manner, as defined by our internal Code of Business Conduct and Ethics. We have established procedures to permit individuals to submit, on a confidential and anonymous basis (to the fullest extent possible consistent with applicable law), good faith complaints relating to violations of the Code. It is the policy of Four Seasons not to allow retaliation for reports of misconduct by others made in good faith.
DUE DILIGENCE

Centrally Sourced and Procured Goods: In 2024, new Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) due diligence processes were put in place, whereby prospective Tier 1 suppliers of centrally sourced and procured goods are required to acknowledge adherence to our Supplier Code of Conduct to be eligible to participate in Requests for Proposal (RFPs). Prospective suppliers are also required to provide intake information that serves as a baseline for the due diligence process. This includes financial data and information on the locations of their factories and distribution centres, which informs the level of supplemental due diligence required. Based on this information, an ESG risk assessment is conducted. Tier 1 suppliers of centrally sourced and procured goods are required to respond to a series of ESG questions covering human rights topics such as human trafficking, forced labour, and child labour, as well as other related topics such as labour performance, employee wellbeing, Codes of Conduct, and management of Tier 2 and Tier 3 suppliers. Responses are assessed using a comprehensive ESG decision matrix and assigned a High, Medium or Low-Risk rating. For suppliers whose responses qualify as high risk, additional due diligence may be conducted, or the supplier may be removed from the competitive process.

In addition, as of December 1, 2023, new Master Purchasing Agreements for centrally sourced and procured goods included a right-to-audit clause, and our objective is to include this in existing agreements by the end of 2024.

Non-Centrally Sourced and Procured Goods: For property-level goods sourcing and procurement and outsourced labour sourcing, before onboarding a new vendor, representatives from the purchasing team at the Managed Property are expected to gather information to perform due diligence, and may conduct site visits depending on the category of products or services that recur annually.

IDENTIFYING & MANAGING RISKS

There are established processes to review risks across Four Seasons, including those related to ESG. Over the last few years, we have been integrating ESG-related risks more fully into our risk management tools and practices.

GOVERNANCE

Ongoing work on human rights at Four Seasons is managed by the Four Seasons ESG Team within the People & Culture organization. An ESG Steering Committee, comprising the CEO and members of the Executive Leadership Team, oversee our ESG efforts. An ESG Core Team, composed of departmental leaders responsible for developing our ESG strategy and guiding programs, meets regularly to track progress, troubleshoot, and support the ongoing implementation of our strategy. A Social Impact Working Group is in place, comprising leaders responsible for implementing programs related to “People” across our global operations. Our ESG efforts are overseen by the ESG Committee of the Board of Directors.

RISK MAPPING AND IDENTIFICATION

In addition to the supply chain risk identification and assessment described in the Due Diligence sub-section, since 2021 we have mapped our Managed Properties – both existing and in development – against a series of 30 risk indicators, including those related to human rights. We use the results of this risk monitoring to manage ESG risks, and to help inform operational decisions. We map our Managed Properties against three external human rights risk indices developed by global risk intelligence company Verisk Maplecroft:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>INDEX</th>
<th>DESCRIPTION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MODERN SLAVERY</td>
<td>Indicates the risk to business of the possible association with or exposure to practices of slavery, servitude, trafficking in persons and forced labour by state and non-state actors within its supply chain.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CHILD LABOUR</td>
<td>Indicates the risk to business of association with the employment of children by state and non-state actors in violation of international law.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MIGRANT WORKERS</td>
<td>Focuses on labour migrants who entered a country for the explicit purpose of employment (foreign, non-national, regular or irregular migrants).</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This analysis informs the prioritization of our work and helps us calibrate our due diligence tools and resources.

We also worked with external experts to identify human rights risks and assess the effectiveness of our mitigation practices, including those related to human trafficking, forced labour, and child labour across operations and the supply chain.
RISKS

Similar to other international hospitality companies with hotel operations, there may be potential human rights risks related to our operations and supply chains. They include, but are not limited to the following:

SUPPLY CHAINS – The hospitality industry is a significant purchaser of products from supply chains such as food, linens, and amenities that involve multiple tiers of subcontractors. Exploitative labour conditions, including forced labour and child labour, can occur at any stage of these supply chains, and risks vary depending on factors such as product category and country of origin.

OUTSOURCED LABOUR SERVICES – Third-party service providers are often contracted to complete specific tasks, including, but not limited to landscaping, maintenance, and transportation. Lack of job security and limited legal protections may make these workers vulnerable to exploitation from their employers.

TEMPORARY LABOUR SOURCING, INCLUDING FOREIGN/MIGRANT WORKERS – Temporary labour is often sought through temporary labour agencies to fill specific labour gaps (e.g., seasonal positions, banqueting, housekeeping, and the construction of properties by owner-hired contractors). These workers may be at greater risk of exploitation due to their transient status and lack of bargaining power. In certain markets, the hospitality industry may employ migrant workers, who are recruited through labour agencies, and may be particularly vulnerable to exploitation due to language barriers, lack of legal documentation, and limited knowledge of their rights.

HUMAN TRAFFICKING – Hotels can be used as venues for human trafficking. Traffickers may exploit vulnerabilities, such as the anonymity provided by temporary accommodations, to coerce individuals into commercial sexual exploitation or forced labour.

Residential operations, including standalone or mixed-use residences, can also encounter various forms of forced labour and human trafficking.

The Four Seasons policies, training, due diligence, risk management practices and the cross-sector collaboration described in this document are designed to mitigate the above risks.

More information on risk management at Four Seasons can be found in our latest ESG Report.
TRAINING

Capacity building, training and awareness are critical in our efforts to tackle human rights issues, including human trafficking, forced labour, and child labour.

HUMAN TRAFFICKING AWARENESS TRAINING – All employees at our Managed Properties and at Four Seasons’ corporate offices are expected to complete a human trafficking awareness training annually to be able to clearly identify the signs of human and labour trafficking, identify potential victims, and respond quickly and safely to assist the individuals. This training was developed with the support of an external organization, BEST Alliance, and is reviewed and updated annually. To pass the training, all employees are required to receive an 80% score on a quiz once they have completed the training. Directors of Security at all our Managed Properties are also provided access to BEST’s Inhospitable Human Trafficking Training as additional training on this topic.

CODE OF BUSINESS CONDUCT AND ETHICS – All corporate employees and employees of Managed Properties are expected to review and acknowledge our Code of Business Conduct and Ethics annually. The Code of Business Conduct and Ethics and its associated training codify our commitment to positively supporting our communities, respecting human rights, and preserving the planet for future generations.

REGULAR EVALUATION – Our human rights related training efforts are regularly evaluated and refined to adapt to emerging challenges and changing dynamics in the industry.
Remediation & Assessing Effectiveness

We have established procedures that enable our employees and the employees of the Managed Properties to submit, on a confidential and anonymous basis (to the fullest extent possible consistent with applicable law), good-faith concerns about illegal or unethical behaviour through a third-party reporting services provider retained by us. Reports filed through this ethics hotline are initially reviewed by the Executive Vice President and Chief People and Culture Officer, Senior Vice President, Internal Audit and Risk, and Senior Vice President, Corporate Counsel and Compliance.

Any instances of concern, whether reported through the ethics hotline, discovered during due diligence screening and assessments, or otherwise, are investigated. Corrective actions may be required in instances of lower severity. Agreements and relations with suppliers may be terminated depending on the context and severity of the issue(s) found.

In 2023, we did not identify any forced labour or child labour in our activities and supply chains. Therefore, we also did not identify any loss of income to vulnerable families resulting from measures taken to eliminate the use of forced labour or child labour in our activities and supply chains.

As an organization, we track and analyze Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) to assess the effectiveness of our approach to mitigating the risks of human trafficking, forced labour and child labour in our supply chains and operations.

Our KPIs include the following:

Incidences
- Reported incidences of human trafficking, forced labour and child labour through the Four Seasons ethics hotline.
- Confirmed incidences of human trafficking, forced labour and child labour after investigation.
- The percentage of reported cases remediated.

Supplier Compliance
- Percentage of contracted suppliers of centrally sourced and procured goods that have confirmed they are able to meet the obligations of the Four Seasons Supplier Code of Conduct.
- Percentage of contracted suppliers of centrally sourced and procured goods that have received the Four Seasons Supplier Code of Conduct.

Training Compliance
- Percentage of employees completing the required training courses.

Cross-Industry Collaboration
- Support cross-industry collaboration through the Sustainable Hospitality Alliance, the American Hotel and Lodging Association, and other networks which raise awareness of human rights risks including slavery and human trafficking, embed human rights into corporate governance, and address risks arising in the labour supply chain and during construction.
- Actively involved with the U.S. Department of State’s Overseas Security Advisory Council (OSAC) Hotels and Lodging Sector Committee, where the topics of human trafficking and forced labour are monitored and discussed.
In 2023, key initiatives and projects were undertaken to strengthen our understanding of human rights risks and our approach to mitigating human trafficking, forced labour, and child labour. The major initiatives are summarized below:

HUMAN RIGHTS RISKS — We worked with external human rights specialists to further assess human rights risks across our hotel and resort portfolio and to evaluate the effectiveness of our current mitigation measures, proactively seeking opportunities to further enhance and improve our systems and practices. This exercise included mapping activities and rights holders, and a review of supply chain and due diligence practices.

REVIEW OF ESG FACTORS — We completed a detailed review of ESG factors across the supply chain of centrally sourced and procured products, with the goal of developing a comprehensive Four Seasons Sustainable Sourcing strategy. This strategy included ESG supplier criteria and key performance indicators. Key outcomes of this work included an enhanced ESG supplier risk due diligence process for centrally sourced and procured products.

POLICY UPDATES — We updated our Human Rights Policy and Supplier Code of Conduct to ensure alignment with evolving best practice.

RIGHT-TO-AUDIT — As of December 1, 2023, Four Seasons began to include a right-to-audit clause in Master Purchasing Agreements for centrally sourced and procured products.

ESG RISK EVALUATION — We continued to map and identify ESG risks using three external human rights risk indices developed by global risk intelligence company Verisk Maplecroft.

TRAINING — We conducted a training and awareness session on human trafficking, including forced and child labour, with all Managed Properties security leaders at our internal Global Security and Safety conferences. The training provided an overview of general incidence data, risk factors, available resources, training tools, and responding to and reporting suspected incidents.
This statement has been approved by the Four Seasons Holdings Inc.
